Audit Report Coming

A report from the Sinton firm that audited Milam County funds will be given next Monday, July 19, County Judge O. B. Harden told county commissioners at a regular meeting Monday morning.

The firm, Harris Havens & Co., started the audit on May 10.

The audit was requested by the Milam County Farm Bureau late last year after a Milam grand jury questioned the efficiency of law enforcement in the county.

Harden reported Monday that residents of Thorndale Precinct 4 were meeting Monday to recommend a replacement for Commissioner Dalton Caffey who is resigning effective July 15. Harden said he had had an application from Purl Paris for the job, but pointed out that Paris is an elected constable.

Harden said he as county judge would make the appointment. The Democratic Party will also have to approve the selection for placing on the ticket for the November general election.

In other business, a bid from Gaither Motor Co. in Rockdale was accepted for two trucks for Precinct 3, at a cost of $6,598.65 and $6,675.83.

The court tabled until Thursday decision on a bid submitted by Howard Buchanan of Thorndale for repairs to the old jail roof. His bid was for $2,750 for the roof, and he told the court brick repairs shoul d be made and a chimney closed up.

Judge Harden read a deed from John McCoy giving the county 33 3/4 acres for a park and wildlife refuge near Thorndale.

Charles Harris of Rockdale asked commissioners if they would close an old county road that runs to his place. He said the road has not been maintained by the county for a long time, at least during the nine years he has been living there. He said other persons using the road leave his gates open and are using it as a result of a family squabble. Harden urged peaceful settlement of the problem and told Harris he would have to petition the court to have the road abandoned.

A request from Odessa Poole of Cameron for help in maintaining Cameron Rest Cemetery was denied, as commissioners agreed they could not help one without helping all and funds are not available at this time.

Commissioners will view a report Thursday on how many wolves the county trapper is catching before making a decision on raising his salary as requested by the Department of Interior.

Bloodmobile Report

The bloodmobile collected 76 units of blood in a Tuesday drawing, three over the quota. Some 82 donors showed up at the drawing.

To quote an enlightened economist who also can write:

"The antidote for uninformed economics is not wishful thinking or science fiction. Rather it is analysis that unflinchingly surveys the evidence of the past and the changing present. There are problems aplenty already visible for the years ahead. But there is no need, in a momentary loss of nerve, to fabricate fears out of thin air."

That's the final comment of Paul A. Samuelson, Nobel Prize winner in economics, columnist for Newsweek and contributor to the ongoing American Issues Forum appearing each Monday on the Herald editorial page.

Key words in Samuelson's conclusions are "analysis", "changing present" and "no need to fabricate fears"

Cameron has forgotten how to conjure up fear before analysis. Milam County is learning to face reality with the prospective outside audit in light of one county precinct already insolvent, and in fact insolvent for several years.

The economics of county government will mean updating the 40-year tax base of Milam County to accomodate the realities of 1976 county costs. Those costs include need for modern salaries for sheriff, county attorney and deputies and realistic budgets for four commissioner precincts operating on a fund-transfer basis which has finally caught one precinct. As Samuelson would suggest: "Can the others be far behind?"

The question is not: "Who is leading?"

The question is: "Who do they follow?"

I think that visitors to the Cameron Park Tennis Center may appreciate the calibre of tennis being developed here in matches they saw Sunday afternoon and Tuesday night.

Tennis enthusiasts are invited to see more calibre in young players Saturday and Sunday during Cameron's first Junior Open.

Almost 150 players are scheduled to play in boys and girls competition 18 and under during the two days, probably the best array of young talent to play the game here in Cameron history.

Real tennis players are exceptionally quick physically and durable beyond most people's concept of how much the heart, lungs and muscles can take after high school or college athletics.

In golf, they walk or ride. In tennis, they sprint, dash, leap, bounce and all but fly when the high lob stretches every sinew to make the overhead.

There isn't a prescription that can match what it does for the properly initiated.

I am just a little above college playing weight, sustain a respiratory and vascular system of someone about 28, etc. Maybe I'm not real.

But I'm alive.

And the tennis gets better all the time.

Museum Committee Seeking Exhibits For County Project

The county museum committee agreed Tuesday that a few rooms in the museum should be readied as soon as possible and is soliciting loans or donations of historical items.

The museum, to be housed in the old county jail, is awaiting repairs to the structure so that work can start on getting the rooms ready. Museum committee members met Tuesday afternoon and heard needs for the project.

Plans call for changing exhibits periodically to hold visitor interest.

Miss Mary Belle Batte, museum committee chairman, told members that "we will use the $2,000 pledged by commissioners then pray."

An application for a historical marker will be made, giving a history of the building which was constructed in 1895.

Miss Batte said space for storage of future exhibits is available until storage rooms can be readied in the jail.

Miss Ada Margaret Smith is chairman of the exhibits committee and anyone having items they wish to loan of donate should contact her.

Collision Nets Minor Injuries, Heavy Damage

A major accident Monday netted only minor injuries to one driver although the vehicles suffered heavy damage. The accident occurred at the intersection of Highways 36 and 77 at the cutoff to Rockdale.

Driver of a Toyota involved in the accident was identifed as Eddie Galardo of Victoria. He was traveling east on 36 when his car collided with a car driven by Ed Sanders of Corpus Christi.

Sanders had stopped at the stop sign then pulled on to 36 when the collision occurred. He and his wife were not injured, but Galardo and his 15-year old passenger, Oscar Cardinas, were both taken to St. [illegible] Hospital [illegible] of [illegible] er [illegible] the county.

County 4-H'ers To Stage Annual Festival

Coming up Saturday, July 17 is the big annual 4-H Festival to be staged on the mall in downtown Cameron, with food, arts and crafts, game booths, bands, two pet shows, and a dance.

Events will get underway at 1 p.m. when the 4-H Project Fair and carnival booths will open. The open pet show, for any youngster in the county, will start at 3 p.m. with judging starting at 3:30. There will also be a pet show for 4-H members only.

The pet show is for small animals only, no horses allowed. Dogs must be on leashes and cats must be caged. Last year's show brought out some handsome entries including dressed-up chickens.

A barbecue and sausage supper will be available starting at 5 p.m. and at 6, the Cameron Rhein Steins will play a concert which will continue until 8 when a street dance will start.

Judging of the 4-H projects will start at 2 and there will be baked foods, items for the home; clothing, canned food, arts and crafts, woodworking, horticulture, field crops, gun safety, pets, entomology, photography, and collections.

Arts and crafts will be sold from booths and there will be a variety of game booths for spectator entertainment. Cold drinks will be available during the afternoon.

Other entertainment will be provided by the Cameron Folk Singers.

School Board Sets Tax Rate At Last Year's Level

Cameron school trustees Monday night sold four old school buses, accepted resignations and hired personnel, gave the tax assessor a salary increase, and set the tax rate.

The tax rate is the same as last year, $1.40 with $1.33 for local maintenance and 7 cents for debt service. They also adopted the school budget for the 76-77 year. (See separate story.)

The buses were sold to the South Side Church of Christ at Austin (two buses), Texas School Bus Sales of Austin, and Terry Arledge. High bids for the buses included $1,483.92 for a 1969 Dodge; $1,777 for a 1967 bus; $739 for a 1962 bus, and $327.92 for a 1960 bus.

Resignations were accepted from Sue Fuquay, Janet Johnson, and Mary King. The board hired Dorothy Dietrich, Amy Page, and Terry O'Hara.

Supt. Buddy Dulin said he had made a survey of tax assessors' salaries in schools of similar size, and Theo Aschenbeck's salary was nearly $200 less than average. Board voted to give Aschenbeck a $100 a month raise. His present salary is $10,000.

Trustees discussed a project to honor retiring school teachers by presenting either a pin or a gift.

Aschenbeck told trustees that this year's tax roll will be about $10,000 more than in previous years. He said that $3,000 exemption for veterans will cost the district about $1,800.

Cameron Hospitals Join Pilot Project For Extended Care

Both Cameron hospitals will be among 22 rural area hospitals across Texas that will begin furnishing extended nursing care type services to Medicare patients in July as part of a Social Security Administration pilot project in cooperation with the Texas Department of Health Resources and the Texas Department of Welfare.

Mrs. Doris Harris, administrator of Newton Memorial Hospital in Cameron, said the program is for a level of care between acute hospital and nursing home care. The patient will receive skilled nursing care in what is considered the intermediate level.

Costs will be lower than that of regular hospital rates, Mrs. Harris said. She said many times patients stay in the hospital and run out of days allowed by Medicare and still need hospital care. Medicare now allows 60 days for acute hospital care.

The program will also utilize beds that otherwise would be vacant in the smaller hospitals, Mrs. Harris said.

Mrs. Harris said Newton will be given four beds per quarter as the program is tested, and patients will receive skilled nursing care until they are well enough to be transferred to nursing homes.

This will make a difference to many patients, especially terminal cancer patients, she added.

Acting as coordinator will be the Texas Hospital Association, announced O. Ray Hurst, CAE, president of the Austin based association.

"All of the hospitals involved have less than 100 beds," said Hurst, "and are experiencing lower than ideal occupancy due to such things as population changes and improved transportation. Yet, as there is a demand in these rural areas for high quality long-term nursing care, the hospitals should be able to increase their utilization of facilities and personnel. This in turn could help contain rising health care costs."

Hurst went on to say, "In our discussions with the administrators of the involved hospitals, each has assured us that their hospital will continue to maintain a high level of service and care to all their patients."

By the time the project is completed in 1978, some 40 Texas hospitals will be involved.

Youth Expo Plans Move Further Along

All plans are "go" for building a youth exposition barn in Cameron which will serve the county in making space for livestock shows, dances, and other youth activities.

Members of the Youth Exposition Building Association met Tuesday night and decided on building size of 120 by 100 feet, with plans to add another building to the complex having a dirt floor. Concrete floors are planned for the two larger buildings.

The group approved a set of by-laws, and made tentative plans for use of the building and insurance.

Robert Lehmann, chairman of the building committee, will contact steel building firms for bids on the structure.

It was noted that the project has some funds available now, including $10,000 from the city's urban renewal program, funds held by the Junior Livestock Association, Noon Lions, Young Farmers, and $6,000 pledged by the county.

Monroe Fuchs reported that three area banks are willing to contribute, including $1,000 from Buckholts State, and $2,000 each from Cameron's First National and Citizens National. Fuchs also [illegible]ed that Alcoa is interested in the project. Fuchs suggested that an auction sale could be held to raise funds from the farming and ranching community.

The building committee will meet to decide on the inside furnishings of the buildings so bids can be let.

A Guy Named McCarthy...

Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N. J., delivered the nominating speech for Jimmy Carter Wednesday night after taking himself out of consideration Monday for the vice presidency which seems destined for Muskie or some one of another five Washingtonian senators.

Thus far, however, it has been dynamics time for Cong. Barbara Jordan, D-Houston, the Black orator who drew 24 interruptions for applause during a co-keynote speech. She shared keynote honors with Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, the astronaut who failed to rouse the zeal of 5,000 Democratic conventioneers though he is one of the six men Carter screened for vice-presidential nomination.

The Democratic convention otherwise has been too predictable to hold more than general interest of television viewers. One gets the same feeling of predictability seen in the 1964 conventions for Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater and the 1972 convention for the re-election of Richard Nixon.

Loser George McGovern cited the "moral obligation" Democrats have to win this election in a speech Tuesday night, fully endorsing the unity theme which is the hallmark and dilemma of this convention.

One also gets the feeling that Carter is more than confident. He is almost morbidly overconfident. As one observer said: "The Democrats can't possibly lose this election in November. But they," he said in the next breath, "can give it away."

One poll showed before this convention that Carter was favored by 47 percent of Democrats, disfavored by 44 percent and the rest in doubt.

Cong. Jordan correctly identified the problem for Democrats, for Republicans and the rest of the country: ". . .We have made mistakes. We admit them. In our haste to do all things for all people, we did not forsee the full consequences of our actions. And the people raised their voices in protest, we did not listen. . ."

"Now we must look to the future. Let us heed the voice of the people and recognize their common sense. If we do not, we not only blaspheme our political heritage, we also ignore the common ties that bind Americans."

Cong. Jordan first attracted national attention during the Watergate hearings as a member of the Rodino House committee which heard charges against Richard Nixon during the Watergate controversy. She is a gifted speaker. She will be heard again and again.

But.

Jimmy Carter has emerged the champion of all this. McGovern, a liberally principaled loser in 1972 to the Watergated Nixon candidacy, endorses Mr. Carter's bid for a "New South's" interpretation of national leadership.

The Republicans are in such disarray, Mr. Carter's bid for election amid all this oratory seems inevitable. The President and Ronald Reagan have not yet finished with one another. The Republican delegate count is perhaps 40 in difference.

But, and remember this, watch out this fall for a guy by the name of Eugene McCarthy. He has not yet begun.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION 'RIP-OFF'

Sen. Bill Brock (Tenn.) ". . .An article has appeared in the Washington Post indicating that some news services are cutting back in their coverage, partially because of the outrageous prices. . .I ask unanimous consent that . . . the Post article be printed in the record." (Excerpts follow):

NEWS AGENCIES CUT DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION COVERAGE
(By William Claiborne)

New York, June 23--The Hearst newspaper chain today canceled plans to set up office space at Democratic National Convention headquarters, bringing to 11 the major news organizations that have withdrawn in protest of alleged price gouging in the rental and delivery of equipment.

Charges of "rip-off" and the prospect that the expected nomination of Jimmy Carter may be less than suspenseful have caused other news organizations to scale back their coverage of the Madison Square Garden event.

The news organizations cited such prices as $6.50 a linear foot for curtains to partition work areas, $30 rental for a folding chair, $40 for a coat tree, and $110 for the use of a small desk for the convention week.

Because of special "Convention service charges" being levied by the New York Telephone Co., a $29 six-button phone is costing $127. Units that cost $4,000 in 1972 at the Miami convention are going for $7,000 in New York.

Associated Press estimated that it will save $20,000 on furniture anddrapery costs alone by moving its workplace to its Rockefeller Plaza headquarters.

In a meeting in Washington on June 14, Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss listened to the media's grievances, after which he discussed the alleged price gouging with officials of the Madison Square Garden and the A-J Contracting Co., hired by the city to refurbish the Garden for the convention. Vincent Clephas, director of communications for the Democratic National Committee, attributed some of the cancellations to a declining interst by news organizations in the convention because of the expected lack of excitement in balloting.

"But I cannot deny that some people got hurt. We were in no position to do any hand-holding for the small users, and they are the ones who got stung the most," Clephas said.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

The "Big Apple" runs true to form by moving in for the "Big rip-off."

State's Coastal Areas Under Study

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong has issued detailed recommendations for better management of the state's coastal area resources through existing agencies and programs.

Outgrowth of a three-year study, the preliminary proposals will be submitted to public hearings beginning next month.

Hearings during August will be held in Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Victoria, Bay City, Houston, Galveston and Beaumont. Later hearings are scheduled in Dallas, San Antonio and Austin.

Main recommendations include:

— Establishment of a process for assessing future economic, environmental and social effects of developments planned for coastal locations.

— Setting up an organized information system in the governor's office to help improve agency coordination on decisions for use of coastal resources.

— Restructuring the Interagency Council on Natural Resources and the Environment to review and coordinate coastal policies and activities.

— Focusing management processes on coastal waters and shorelands closely associated with the waters. Only a fraction of each coastal county would be included in the management area.

Armstrong said recommendations provide a framework for coastal growth and development.

Briscoe Cool

The idea of a special session to curb utilities bills left Gov. Dolph Briscoe cool, in spite of support from House Speaker Bill Clayton and other lawmakers.

Briscoe said ideas of House committees (including sales tax reductions and tax rebates) are "nothing basically new." He added he is not convinced they would substantially decrease bills or that they could be passed quickly by the legislature.

Meanwhile, Rep. Lane Denton of Waco came up with 14 recommendations which he claimed could reduce gas and electric bills 25 per cent if enacted. Denton proposed a ceiling on the wellhead price of natural gas, further restictions on utility companies and tax adjustments or elimination.

He also recommended election of Railroad Commission members from six geographic districts.

Party Fight Due

Angelina County Attorney John Henry Tatum of Lufkin set the stage for a state Democratic leadership tug-of-war with announcement as a candidate for Texas party chairman.

Tatum was the first to come out against Calvin Guest of Bryan, backed by Gov. Briscoe for a third term as state Democratic Executive Committee head.

Other liberals are considering the race which will be decided at the State Democratic convention September 18 in Fort Worth.

Texas Democrat leaders this week are attending the party's national presidential nominating convention in New York City.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court will review a $1.8 million judgment against General Motors in a suit blaming a fatal truck accident on a faulty carburetor. GM claims the verdict would discourage new products development and bring price increases.

The high court found error in a trial court dismissal of a Comal County couple's suit to prevent the State Highway Commission from taking 6.3 acres of land without adequate compensation.

Upholding lower courts, the State Supreme Court declared alimony judgments rendered in other states can be enforced in Texas.

The Supreme Court will review Houston court findings that part of the code of criminal procedure is unconstitutional.

A new trial was ordered by the Supreme Court in a $200,000 Wichita Falls water district land condemnation case.

Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the 35-year prison sentence of a man who shot at a policeman in Snyder, because the jury was not charged on the issue of whether the defendant acted in self-defense.

An Austin district judge dismissed a University of Texas effort to throw out a suit to invalidate a decision by regents to dismantle the UT system school of nursing.

AG Opinions

The Public Utility Commission is not required to issue certificates of convenience and necessity to gas utilities, since the Railroad Commission or cities have jurisdiction over those companies, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In another recent opinion, Hill concluded the abstract of a personal judgment rendered against a defendent by a court in a tax suit should be issued as by civil statute even though the judgement additionally forecloses a tax lien on property.

File of an attorney with the Board of Law Examiners is not available to the public, Hill stated in a third opinion.

Reconnection Allowed

Texas intrastate utilities which are members of the Texas Interconnected System can reconnect with interstate members without coming under Federal Power Commission Jurisdiction.

FPC allowed emergency reconnection of TIS without imposing its regulations on the system's intrastate members.

TIS provides electric utility member cooperatives emergency and peak-use energy capabilities. It was disconnected in early May when one member extended its system across the Texas-Oklahoma border, engaging in interstate business.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

On reading a chart showing that if inflation continued at 6 percent a year, a car costing $4,000 now will, in the year 2000, which is only 24 years away, cost $17,000, a friend of mine said he believed he'd buy up some new cars, store them in a dry place, and clean up in the year 2000.

Another friend spoke up and said you could do the same thing with just money. Put $4,000 out at 6 percent compound interest and by the year 2000 you'd have $17,000. Besides which, he said, we may be out of gas by then and a car might not be worth anything, except maybe for the kids to play house in.

A third friend joined in and said that's true, but by the year 2000, if things keep going like they are and Congress stays in session, $17,000 may not be worth anything either.

There are many puzzling things around. For example, the government has banned the use of red dye, the stuff that makes a glass of sweetened water look like strawberry soda, on the grounds that it's harmful to our health, but has said if you have any left on hand, go ahead and use it up. This is like saying it's poisonous, but not till week after next.

And I was just wondering, if some scientist who hasn't had his name in the paper yet came out of his laboratory and announced that mocking birds are spreading radio active waves, what sort of torment would the far-out environmentalists go through trying to decide what to do about it? They'd be in the same shape as somebod y wondering if he should report a cat to the Humane Society for torturing a rat.

I'll tell you, one trouble with this country is that the Founding Fathers, in asserting that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights, failed to insist that at least some of them 2000 years later ought to be endowed with common sense.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Public Utility members said the FPC decision to permit reconnection will be an increased factor of reliability to Texas electricity.

Short Snorts

Gov. Briscoe expressed opposition to a National Governors' Conference task force recommendation for a national minimum welfare level with regional variations funded by the federal government.

Speeding and alcohol were blamed for most of 48 Texas traffic fatalities over July 4 weekend.

Texas school districts will share a $7.2 million federal grant earmarked for innovative programs.

State Rep. John Newton of Beeville reported spending $478,178 on his Democratic race for Railroad Commissioner — outspending opponent Jerry Sadler about 50 to 1.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The
TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

Cotton, Corn Acres Increase . . . Sorghum, Barley, Soybeans Down . . . Hog Inventory Up . . . Meat Production Rises.

Texas cotton and corn acres for 1976 are up substantially from levels of a year ago, while sorghum, barley, and soybeans show significant declines, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Much of the reduction in acreage was caused by drouth conditions last Fall. In the dryland areas of the High Plains, a substantial number of acres of cotton and sorghum did not get planted because of short moisture conditions.

Upland cotton acreage for the state is up 13 per cent from a year ago, but probably more would have been planted had the weather conditions been better.

Corn, a crop which is now getting more attention from Texas farmers than in recent years, increased in acreage by 29 per cent from a year ago. A large part of the state total is grown on the High Plains and is under irrigation. As a result, Texas has had an average per acre yield exceeding 100 bushels.

Sorghum acres are down this year for two reasons: cotton and unfavorable planting weather. Acreage seeded by the state's farmers to sorghum this year is down 10 per cent from a year ago.

Soybean acreage is down almost a fourth from a year ago; rice acreage is down 5 per cent; oat acres are down 5 per cent; peanut acreage is about the same as a year ago. Wheat acreage is about the same as last year, but yields are 40 per cent under the records set in 1975.

HOG PRODUCERS in the state are following the actions of others throughout the nation and are increasing hog and pig numbers. As of June 1, there were 880,000 hogs and pigs in Texas, up 10 per cent from a year ago.

From now through August, hog producers intend to farrow 50,000 sows; they intend to farrow 42,000 from August through November. If these intentions are realized, this would be a 19 per cent increase in farrowings.

Nationwide, producer intentions from now through November would indicate a pig crop of 42.1 million, up 18 per cent from a year ago.

Fish Farming Confab Slated At Texas A&M

The whole realm of fish farming will be explored at a conference at Texas A&M University July 20-22.

Some 150 fish farmers from throughout Texas and neighboring states are expected to attend the Texas Fish Farming Conference and annual convention of the Catfish Farmers of Texas. In addition, board members of the Catfish Farmers of America will hold their mid-year meeting.

The conference will be at the Rudder Center, with the first session getting under way at 10 a.m. on July 20, points out Don Steinbach, associate fisheries specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Discussions during the morning session will deal with the production of exotic fish, tilapia (commonly known as African rainbow perch) and rainbow trout. Afternoon speakers will talk about largemouth bass production, the production of large bass, and catfish fingerlings, and growing hybrid fish. Culture methods for raising small fish to feed pedaceous fishes and the production of commercial bait minnows will also be discussed.

The morning session on the second day will feature discussions on electrical shockers, lift net feeding, and trapping catfish in farm ponds

The remainder of the day's program will deal with water quality, partical feeding techniques, internal parasites of bait minnows, disease prevention, channel catfish genetics studies at Texas A&M and catfish breeding.

The final day of the conference will feature a panel discussion on intensive fish culture by specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and scientists of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Humid Weather Bad For Crops

By Bill McCutchen

The heavy rainfall and continued wet weather is causing quite a few problems and many of the problems are insect related.

The cotton crop had been looking real good up until last weekend but damp soggy weather has caused some bloom shedding but worst of all it has been ideal climatic condition for bollworm and boll weevil buildups. Considerable acreage, particularly cotton acreage in bottomlands and late planted cotton is being endangered by one or both of these culprits.

Grain sorghum snapped out of its earlier "wet feet" problem for the most part, but excessively wet conditions are likely to cause some problem in sorghum also. Weathering and grain damage on mature sorghum can occur rather quickly, lowering the grade. Suckering of older grain sorghum is also likely now and this can significantly delay grain harvest if the suckers are allowed to seed.

Peanut farmers have their woes also as leaf spot on peanuts is getting severe quickly. Warm humid weather is ideal for the spread of leaf spot.

The pecan crop is so light this year that very few people are concerned with pecans, but those with a crop are having a terrible time with pecan scab, a pecan disease which also thrives on humid conditions.

So as not to leave out the homeowner or rancher mother nature has also blessed us with one of the earliest damaging generations of Fall Armyworms that I have ever seen. They are damaging bermudagrass lawns, and forage crops in different locations throughout the county.

What we need is something we are usually blessed with too much of during July. That being hot, dry weather.

I though I could probably live a lifetime without seeing a repeat of the 1975 rainfall in the spring and summer, but 1976 looks like it could be a repeat performance.

Make Safety Happen

Reduce farming costs with accident prevention. Be informed. Read safety articles. Study operator's manuals. Routinely inspect machinery, buildings, and work sites for hazards, then correct them. Use needed protective equipment. Teach others to work safely. Keep up on laws and regulations concerning safety and health. Post safety rules and insist they be followed.

Entomologist Eyes Insect Situation

The boll weevil has increased in some fields in Williamson and Milam Counties during the past two weeks. The hot humid weather we have been experiencing is ideal for weevil development. Weevil pressure is heaviest in areas near creeks, rivers, and tree lines.

In most fields, however, boll weevil activity has been below economic injury levels. The second bollworm egg lay of the season occured around July 5 as predicted by the Moth ZV model. Bollworm moths, eggs, and worms can be found in most fields.

Beneficial insects are the first line of defense for the bollworm and tobacco budworm. The third and largest bollworm egg lay of the seson should occur somewhere around July 18-20.

Cotton fleahoppers have been discovered in low numbers in most of the replanted cotton. Fleahopper numbers in all cases have been below economic injury levels. It is expected that fleahoppers will probably increase slowly in the next two weeks.

The wet weather we have been experiencing will keep pastures green and provide adequate food for fleahoppers; therefore, a sudden move to cotton is not anticipated. Chemical application for fleahoppers could result in severe bollworm outbreaks

GRAIN SORGHUM

Most of the grain sorghum is past the midge susceptible stage in Williamson and Milam Counties. A few late planted or stunted fields are still experiencing damaging sorghum midge populations.

Growers are reminded that grain sorghum is susceptible only during blooming (yellow anthers are visible). Once the head has completely bloomed midge damage will not occur.

If milo is still susceptible and an average of one midge per head is found, chemical applications should be initiated. In areas where cotton is located adjacent to grain sorghum fields, growers are urged to carefully consider the possibility of bollworm outbreaks due to insecticide drift before chemical applications are made.

Double-Ring Service Joins Couple

Miss Paula Jean Muecke of Three Rivers and Harry Allen Perrin of Dallas were joined in marriage during an evening double-ring ceremony Saturday, July 10 at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Three Rivers.

The bride's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Elmo Walter Mueck e of Three Rivers. Parents of th. groom are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warren Perrin of Cameron.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Monsignor William Kinlough of Corpus Christi. Providing the organ music was Miss Harriet Schulz of Houston, and Miss Connie Roberts of Austin sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned in white by Priscilla of Boston. Re-embroidered Alencon lace and appliques of Venetian point lace embellished the gown's molded high-rise bodice, which also featured a wedding band neckline, sheer yoke, and short cap sleeves. Venise starflowers scattered the gown's A-line skirting of silk organza, which flowed into a chapel lenth train. A border of Venise and Alencon floral bouquets, accented by a scrolled lace trim, encircled the hemline.

The bride's headpiece of draped silk organza and re-embroidered Alencon lace was also a creation from Priscilla of Boston. A shoulder lenth arch of white illusion fell from her cap and was eged with white scrolled Venise lace. Appliques of Venise starflowers scattered the tier of chapel length illusion.

A bouquet of white roses, white baby's breath, and English ivy atop a white mother of pearl Bible was carried by the bride.

Lisa Ann Muecke of Three Rivers, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mike Muecke of Abilene, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Susan Curry of Houston, Miss Anne Spellmann of San Antonio, and Miss Anne Miller of Dallas. They wore gowns of folly green chiffon fashioned along empire lines designed by Priscilla of Boston. The bodice featured a graceful lettuced edged capelet. They carried spiral bouquets of yellow roses, white baby's breath, and English ivy.

Serving as best man was Charles Maddox Jr. of Austin. Groomsmen were Bill Perrin of Dallas, brother of the groom, Mike Muecke of Abilene, brother of the bride, Greg Perrin of Austin, cousin of the groom, and Jerry Richardson of Cameron.

Miss Ann Stendebach of Three Rivers was flower girl and Carter Perrin of Houston was ring bearer.

Ushers were Mark and Mike Perrin, both of Houston and brothers of the groom, Chris Perrin of San Antonio, cousin of the groom, Greg Powers of Harlingen, and Norman Trubee of Cameron.

Mike and Matt Dillon, both of Humble and nephews of the groom, served as altar boys.

Rice bag girls were Misses Jill, Carol, Lynn, and Elizabeth Perrin of Houston, and Misses Mindy and Melanie Dill of Humble, all nieces of the groom.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Meghan Odem registered guests. Other members of the houseparty were Miss Carol Pappas, Mrs. Bill Perrin, Mrs. Jimmy Jowers, Miss Brenda Ewald, Misses Candi and Sherri Pietsch, Miss JoAnne Salvino, Mrs. Allen Callaway, Mrs. Charles Maddox Jr., Miss day Doughty, Miss Kathy Thomas, Miss Margaret Flynn, and Mrs. James Key Jr.

After a short trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will reside in Dallas.

The bride and groom are both graduates of The University of Texas at Austin.

Fall Countians Finalizing Plans For Old Settlers Reunion

Plans are presently being made for the 68th reunion of the Falls County Old Settlers and Veterans Association which will be held Thursday and Friday, July 22 and 23 at Tomlinson Hall.

This annual affair is now held the fourth Thursday and Friday in July, a week later than before, so that it will not conflict with the Reisel Fair, which is held thethird week of July.

This year's celebration will feature the bicentennial theme in honor of our nation's 200th birthday.

Festivities will begin each evening at 6 p.m. with a supper served under the trees on the grounds and will be followed at 8 p.m. with a program in the tabernacle. Jack Stem of Marlin, president of the association, will be master of ceremonies each night. The Tim Bratcher Band of Marlin will play each evening during the supper hours.

The affair will open Thursday evening with the traditional invocation and flag raising. On Thursday at 8 p.m., before theprogram in the tabernacle, the Historical Marker, recently granted the association, will be unveiled and dedicated. The Honorable Dan Kubiak will present the dedication speech. The permanent site of the marker will be in front of the tabernacle on the Old Brazos Trail located on Highway 20-27.

Supper for Thursday evening will be brisket beef barbecue cooked in the newly constructed barbecue pit. The program will be a performance by square dancers to carry out the bicentennial theme.

At 6 p.m. Friday, fresh Brazos catfish and hush puppies "with all the fixings" will be served. Area fiddlers will compete for cash prizes at 8 p.m. There will be age categories: first, ages one to fifty years; second, fifty-one years plus. A grand prize wil l be awarded the winner of the winners in the two categories. Ray Windham of Lott will be in charge of the fiddling contest.

Included in Friday night's program will be a recognition given to the oldest man, woman, married couple, and native of Falls County who are present Friday night. Mrs. Anton Miller of Cego will be in charge of this part of the program.

The Falls County Historical Society, with Mrs. Mary Price of Marlin directing, will set up booths around the pavilion, for the display of arts and crafts, homemade foods, and other salable items. The booths will be open each afternoon at 2 p.m. Persons wishing to have a booth may contact Jack Stem at Marlin at 883-3600.

This annual affair dates back to theearly years of the century. The Old Settlers Association was organized July 4, 1908 by Falls County pioneers in Lott. One year later, July 3, 19-9, the first official reunion was held in Marlin. It was in 1911 that Tomlinson Hill became the permanent residence for the association.

The public is welcome to eat, to enjoy the programs, and to visit with old friends and relatives.

Electricity from the Sun?

The basic technology for utilizing solar energy has existed for some time. In fact, simple systems for heating water and even heating and cooling homes are in operation today. However, such systems are extremely expensive, low in efficiency and usually cannot be relied upon without a "back-up" system.

Producing electricity by harnessing the energy of the sun, wind, tides and other "exotic" sources is under intensive research being conducted by the electric industry and the Federal government's Energy Research and Development Administration. Millions of dollars and the efforts of many scientists and engineers are committed to the task, but the crucial problem is converting energy from these sources to electric power at a price people can afford. Economical, efficient, large-scale production is many years away.

Since 1971, Texas Power & Light Company has been reducing its dependence on costly and scarce natural gas and oil by building and operating generating plants which use lower cost lignite coal. An abundant supply of this coal is available for operating these plants.

TP&L and two other electric companies are also building a nuclear power plant. The first unit of this plant is scheduled to go into operation in 1980 and the second in 1982.

We're working to assure all TP&L customers a dependable supply of electricity. Today, this is being done with proven methods and reliable sources of energy, but we're looking to the long-range future, too.

Stepped Decks Conquer Slopes

An interesting way to utilize a sloping lot and gain access to lower levels is build a series of small decks connected with steps and walkways of western wood.

The decks can be set on 4x4 posts and 2x8 joists, with decking of 2x4-inch Douglas fir. The walks and steps can be constructed of the same material, making certain that any members that will be in continued contact with the ground are preservative treated.

For pleasing contrast, the decks can be laid in varying patterns such as diagonals or herringbones,

Preferences

People who are sailboat buffs look down their noses at powerboats. Conversely, those who prefer powerboats think there is too little action in the sport of sailing. It's a matter of personal preference.

Fortunately, there is enough water in the world to permit both kinds of boating. Also, there is enough of everything on this earth to enable us to live in dignity while doing personally what we like best — IF we use our resources properly . . . and remember to consider our fellowman.

Personal preferences . . . consideration. These two things apply to boating, to be sure. They also apply to choice of a mate, where to live, kind of occupation, and where and how to worship. You have freedom of choice. Don't forget to use it.

JAMES PUGH

Visitor Shows Medals, Trophy Won In Meet

A New Braunfels youth who is visiting his grandmother in Cameron can show a number of medals and a trophy he won in a swim meet at Mexico City on June 24.

James Pugh, 11 last week, was 10 when he won the honors in a dual meet between New Bruanfels teams and Mexico City teams. His grandmother is Mrs. Mary Koronak of Cameron.

James' parents are Mrs. Wayne Marsh and Mr. James Pugh of New Braunfels.

James is a member of the New Braunfels Aquatic Club which traveled to Mexico for the meet.

His medals include second place butterfly stroke; second place in relay; third placein relay; fourth place in relay; third place in breast stroke; and third place in back stroke. The trophy was awarded because he had the highest number of points.

After the meet, the Mexican and U. S. swimmers exchanged shirts and medals.

1st Junior Open Begins At Park Courts Saturday

The first Cameron Junior Tennis Tournament will begin for up to 150 entries 8 a.m. Saturday at Cameron Park Tennis Center.

Entries from around Central Texas, including a delegation of junior players from Waco, will vie for trophies in juniors competition for 18, 16, 14, 12, and under in both boys and girls singles and doubles.

Entries closed July 10.

Tournament officials noted it was the first summer junior tournament at the new tennis center, which continues to undergo improvements with gravelled walkways and strengthened center nets. Several school tournaments and dual matches were held this spring.

The Cameron Town & Country Tennis Association held ladder tournaments last Sunday. An open tournament is planned over Labor Day if completion of two new courts in OJT Park and resurfacing of three YHS courts are in time for the September weekend.

Cameron junior players are practicing during the week for the renewed competition. Several have entered tournaments in Taylor and Marble Falls since the end of school.

The Cameron Junior Open will continue through Sunday evening until all events are played through the finals.

It is the first junior open tennis tournament in Cameron sports history.

Turkey Stockings Continue

TYLER

Some 225 eastern turkeys, representing nearly one-quarter of the total projected to be stocked, have been released in the pineywoods of East Texas.

Stocking of the once-plentiful turkeys will continue through the fall, until 1,000 birds will have been released, according to Robert Van Cleave, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department regional wildlife director.

"We have been releasing birds on a weekly basis as they turn 14 weeks old," said Van Cleave. "A majority of the birds have been pen-reared, but a few have been wild-trapped," Van Cleave noted. It has been determined that at 14 weeks of age the turkeys are better prepared to survive and grow in the wild. At that age, the birds are approximately three-fourths grown.

"Birds younger than 14 or 15 weeks are too small and subject to much heavier predation." All the released birds will be introduced into East Texas areas that have 40 inches or more of rainfall yearly.

The birds are released on a two-hen to one-gobbler ratio.

4-H Congress Set In Austin

AUSTIN

What youth has not dreamed of sitting in the legislative chambers in the State Capitol at Austin and actually getting involved in the law-making process?

Well, a host of Texas 4-H members will have that opportunity when they participate in the Texas 4-H Congress in Austin July 27-30.

Headquarters for the annual Congress will be the stephen F. Austin Hotel. This year's theme is "We The People. . ."

The Congress will be highlighted by a tour of the State Captiol Building and actual involvement in presenting a bill before the Texas Legislature, points out Kenneth Denmark, associate state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H.

To orient the 4-Hers to the legislative process, the delegates will be divided int a senate group and a representative group and will actually simulate how legislation takes place, points out Denmark. They will discuss various issues dealing with youth and will actually write bills, debate and vote on them. The bills will then be forwarded to the Governor for signing.

Installation of Texas 4-H Council members for 1976-77 will conclude the Congress. The state council consists of the chairman and vice chairman of each of the 14 Extension Service district 4-H councils plus four delegates-at-large. The state council is the governing body of 4-H and gives overall leadership and direction to 4-H programs and activities.

BUILD A DREAM (DOLL) HOUSE

You can get the easy-to-use plans for building one yourself, either elegantly Victorian or charmingly colonial by sending $6 to Joan Eastman Miniatures, 9 Johns Road, Setauket, New York 11733.

Outdoor Room In Lath House

An enlarged lath house with benches or chairs makes a serene garden sitting place as well as a spot for propagating shade-loving plants.

The roof should be larger and higher than for a simple lath house, and can be constructed of 1x2-inch Douglas fir or western red cedar instead of thinner lath material.

Walls of the spaced 1x2s are nailed directly to posts of 4x4-inch cedar set in the ground. The floor is raked gravel.

Livestock Firm Charges Filed

Karnes City Livestock Co., Inc., a stockyard at Karnes City, has been ordered to stop violating fair trade practice, accounting, and recordkeeping requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S.Department of Agriculture (USDA) said today.

The firm is registered as a market agency to sell livestock on a commission basis. It draws livestock consignments from southern Texas.

Karnes City Livestock Co. consented to issuance of the order and waived oral hearing. It neither admitted nor denied the charges in an administrative complaint filed by USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration.

The abbreviation q.v. stands for the Latin quod vide and means "which see."

Endangered Listing Asked For Threatened Plants

AUSTIN

For a number of years, concern has been growing about the nation's endangered wildlife species and a great deal of work and study has gone into classifying and methods of conserving them. Now, attention also is being focused on the problems of endangered and threatened plant life.

The federal Endangered Species Act of 1973 brought recognition and protection to a long list of species of fauna. In Texas, the Governor's Planning Council designated the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as official liaison agencyin this respect.

The Smithsonian Institute directed to review the status of plants in this country, in January 1975 submitted to the federal government its report and recommendations. These indicated that 3,187 species were likely candidates for inclusion on the endangered or threatened lists, and the findings were published last year in the Federal Register.

More than half the species on the Smithsonian list, plus several more which were added as a result of public comments, now have been proposed by the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U. S. Department of the Interior as endangered.

Included are more than 1,700 species represnting some 110 plants families--about 8 percent of the seed plants and ferns native to the United States. Among them are many wildflowers, cacti, orchids, shrubs, grasses, fern, and trees.

More than half are found in Hawaii, the greatest portportions otherwise being in Florida, California, and Texas, in that order. These state overall have the most plant species andgreatest diversity of vegetation in the continental United States.

According to David Riskind, P&WD botanist, some 10 percent of Texas flora in considered rare, but it has to be determined yet which species are endangered or threatened as defined by the Rare and Endangered Species Act of 1973.

"We are making continuous studies in conjunction with other agencies," said Riskind, "particularly the Rare Plant Study Center at The University of Texas, to arrive at an accurate evaluation of the rare plant species in units of the state park system. When new state parks are evaluated or older ones developed, the vegetation is mapped and species identified and evaluated."

Proposal to include the listed plants within the scope of the Endangered Species Act would affect interstate and international commerce in them, although collectors still could take them from the wilds if in compliance with state laws.

Interested persons are invited to make comments on he proposal before Aug. 16, 1976 to the Director, FWS/LE, Fish and Wildlife Service, U. S. Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240. The revised list in question appears in the June 16, 1976 edition of the Federal Register, pages 24525-24572, review copies of which are available at most public libraries.

Bentsen Asks Quick Action On Bills Combating Terrorism

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Friday asked the Senate Judiciary and Foreign Relations Committees for quick action on his bills making terriorism a federal crime, with the death penalty when someone is killed, and withholding aid from countries that harbor terrorists.

Bentsen disclosed at a Dallas news conference Friday morning that he has written to Chairman James Eastland (D-Miss.) of the Senate Judiciary Committee and Chairman John Sparkman (D-Ala.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committe, asking for hearings on his legislation "at the earliet practiable moment."

"We have to put a stop to these terrorists acts: to the letter bombs mailed to corporate executives and the indiscriminate bombings in Massachusetts and the murders of U. S. diplomats and the airplane hijackings," the Senator said.

"I want to put these people who think they can get away with murder and mayhem in the name of some higher political cause on notice that we're not going to put up with that in this country any more."

"And I want to encourage other countries to let it be known that they won't put up with it either. Terrorists should be made to feel that there is no place in the world where they will be safe," Sen. Bentsen said.

One of Bentsen's bills would require the President to suspend foreign aid, loans and trade preference to any country which wilfully aids or assists international terrorists.

The other bill makes crimes by terrorists organizations--such as kidnapping, sabotage, destruction of government property--punishable by the normal sentence for the offense in question plus an additional sentence of 2 to 10 years.
